INTRODUCTORY.

The compiler of this little volume has undertaken a task the difficulties of which were not fully realized at the outset, else, perhaps, said volume would never have seen the light. How thoroughly these difficulties have been overcome, a generous public must determine.

A word as to the aim and scope of the Social and Family Directory. It is intended to give in as compact and convenient form as possible the names of householders, with their residences and exact numbers; the names of adult members of each family; together with a complete classification of streets, and other information of local interest. Two lists have been prepared: the first giving the names alphabetically, with the place of residence; the second, the names of streets alphabetically and the addresses numerically. The advantages of this double list are obvious.

While the object of the book is not to draw arbitrary social boundary lines, it is hoped it will give the desired information in a manner not so easily obtained elsewhere, and that it will fully meet the requirements of families, professional men and women, and business houses.

Although great care has been exercised in the preparation of the Directory, it would be expecting too much to make perfect a first attempt of this kind. If therefore, there be any—and some there must be—whose names do not appear, the errors of omission and commission must be attributed to the difficulties of the undertaking and not to deliberate intention.

Should this venture meet with the approbation of the people of Toledo, and, as it is hoped it will, become a family necessity, the Directory will be issued annually, and the second volume will be all the better from the friendly suggestions made in correcting the defects of this first attempt.

HANDY HINTS ON ETIQUETTE.

[A few general rules are here given, in the belief that they will prove of service in doubtful moments, by solving some of the minor problems of formal intercourse. They are taken from the latest authorities and may be relied upon as being correct. Their brevity will commend them to the reader.]

Ladies' visiting cards should be medium-sized, texture fine, engraving a plain script, medium-sized letters, with the prefix of "Mrs." or "Miss" in every case.

When a lady changes her residence she must leave her card, with her new address, upon those to whom she is indebted for a visit.

A card with an appropriate sentiment written upon it, or a box of cut flowers and a card, should be sent immediately when death occurs in the household of a friend.

Cards are always left in the hall when entering a reception.

An invitation card and a reply to it may be sent by post, but a card of felicitation or condolence never. Turning or folding over the right end of cards signifies that they are left in person.

The husband's card should accompany that of his wife on all formal occasions, but both names must not be engraved on the same card.

Within a week after an entertainment, whether the invitation was accepted or not, cards of all who were invited must be left by some member of the family upon both host and hostess and also upon any one for whom the entertainment may have been given. Invitations to a ball or to a party must be accepted or declined within two or three days of their arrival. The form of acceptance or regret to a ball or party is written in the name or names of those receiving the cards, thus:

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henry Dawes accept with pleasure (or decline with sincere regret)
Mrs. Anthony Farquar's
Kind invitation for Tuesday evening, Oct. 6.

Sept. 21st.

125 South Street.

Replies to invitations to dinners should be sent immediately. A delay is unpardonable. Following is the customary formula of acceptance:

Mr. and Mrs. Kingston Wood

accept with pleasure

Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Harrison's

Kind invitation to dine with them on Monday evening,

January 11th.

31 Villa Street.

If unable to accept, the refusal must be couched in language that conveys real sorrow, thus:

Mr. and Mrs. Kingston Wood

regret most sincerely that a previous engagement

(or an illness, or sorrow, etc.)

Makes it quite impossible for them to accept

Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Harrison's

Kind invitation for Monday evening,

January 11th.

Of course the formality or informality of the acquaintance between the parties regulates the method and clearness of this refusal of an invitation.
